Published by Authority.

From Tuesday February 26, to Saturday March 1, 1760.

Dublin, February 23.

YESTERDAY Morning, a little before Eleven o'Clock, an Account was received, that a Body of French, ſuppoſed to be about 1000 Men, were landed at Carrickfergus, on Thurſday Morning. Immediately upon the Receipt of this Intelligence, his Grace the Lord Lieutenant gave Orders for the aſſembling, with the utmoſt Expedition, at Newry, four Regiments of Infantry, viz. Pole's, Anſtruther's, Sandford's, and Sebright's; and three Regiments of Dragoons, viz. Moſtyn's, Yorke's, and Whitley's; and his Grace made no Doubt, that, ſhould the French be hardy enough to hazard themſelves at any Diſtance from their Ships, the Troops, he ſhould be able to get together, in a very few Days, will be more than ſufficient to protect the Country from any Violence, and to drive them out of the Kingdom. And this Morning, at Half paſt Seven, a farther Account was received, That Lieutenant Colonel Jennings had ſuffered himſelf, with four Companies of Major General Strode's Regiment under his Command at Carrickfergus, to be be made Priſoners of War: And that, on the 22d in the Morning, about Eight o'Clock, a Flag of Truce came to Belfaſt, and made a Demand of ſeveral Articles of Proviſions, and other Neceſſaries, to be delivered that Day at Two o'Clock, promiſing to pay for them, and threatening, in Caſe of Refuſal, to burn Carrickfergus, and afterwards to come up and burn Belfaſt alſo: With which Demands the Gentlemen of Belfaſt thought it beſt to comply. The French Priſoners of War had been removed from Carrickfergus and Belfaſt to Liſburn.

Dublin, February 24.

This Evening, his Grace the Lord Lieutenant received the following Letter from Major General Strode, dated, Belfaſt, February 23, 1760, at Six in the Evening, viz.

"INformation of Benjamin Hall, Lieutenant and Adjutant to my Regiment, who, this Moment, arrived here, on his Parole, from Carrickfergus, in order to get Proviſions for the Officers and Soldiers of my Regiment there, ſays, that, on the 21ſt Inſtant, three Ships appeared off the Iſle of Magee, ſtanding in Shore, for the Bay of Carrickfergus; and at Eleven o'Clock came to an Anchor, about Two Miles and an Half to the North Eaſt Part of the Caſtle, and within Muſquet Shot of the Shore of Kilſrute Point. At this Time, the ſmall Number of Troops, belonging to the Garriſon, were at Exerciſe, about Half a Mile on the Road to Belfaſt; and at a Quarter after Eleven o'Clock, the Guard was turned out, made up, and marched off, to relieve that on the French Priſoners in the Caſtle; the reſt of the Men continued in the Field of Exerciſe, where an Account was ſoon brought, that the three Ships, juſt come to an Anchor, had taken and detained two Fiſhing Boats, and, with them and ſeveral others, were plying on and off betwixt the Shore and the Ships; on which, immediate Orders were ſent to the Caſtle for both Guards to continue under Arms, and double the Centries over the French Priſoners, and be particularly ſtrict and watchful over them, till ſuch Time as they could be ſatisfied, whether they were Friends or Enemies; though, at the ſame Time, a ſtrong Report prevailed with ſome, that it was an Engliſh Frigate, and two Store Ships: But, to be convinced what they were, after the Troops had aſſembled in the Market Place, the ſaid Lieutenant Hall went off with a reconnoitring Party, and took Poſt on a riſing Ground, where he could plainly perceive Eight Boats landing armed Men; and that they drew out in Detachments, and took Poſt on the Dykes, Hedges, and all the riſing Grounds, from whence they could have the moſt extenſive Views; upon which he gave the neceſſary Orders to his Non-Commiſſion Officers, and Men, to have a watchful Eye of their Approaches, and to take particular Care, that they did not get round them, by going at the Foot of the Hill undiſcovered; in order to prevent which, he poſted them himſelf, and told them, as ſoon as ever their advanced Guard came within Shot, to fire upon them, and continue ſo to do, until they repulſed them, or, if neceſſitated to retreat, he likewiſe pointed that out to them, with Orders to take every Opportunity, on Advantage of Ground, in their Retreat, to retard the Enemy's Approach, and to be ſure to keep a Communication with the Town as much as poſſible; and on this, he immediately went to the Town, and acquainted Lieutenant Colonel Jennings, where he found him with the Troops on the Parade; who immediately ordered Detachments to be made to defend the Gates of the Town, and all the Avenues leading thereto. Soon after which the reconnoitring Party retired, after having ſpent all their Ammunition; during which Time, the Lieutenant Colonel, and chief Magiſtrate of the Town, ſent off the Sheriff, and Mr. Mucklewaine, (who is Captain of the Militia of the Corporation) with Orders to take off the French Priſoners of War, and convey them with all Speed to Belfaſt, where they were to receive further Orders from me. By this Time the Enemy were in full March for the Town, which he computed to be near 1000 Men; and two or three ſtragling Huſſars, on Horſes they had picked up after Landing, attempted to enter the Gates, but, on the firſt Fire, retired, but were ſoon ſupported by Parties of Foot, who attacked both the North and Scotch Gates, as alſo the Garden Walls of Lord Donnegall, who were repulſed alſo, and kept back as long as the Men had Ammunition; on which Colonel Jennings ordered the Whole to retire to the Caſtle; which he had ſufficient Time to do, as, at this Time, the Enemy was a little checked from our Fire; and would have been more ſo, had the Men had Ammunition. Before the Gates of the Caſtle were ſhut, they made their Appearance in the Market-place; and then it was in his Opinion the Deſtruction of the Enemy would have commenced, had it not been, that ſtill (he begs Leave again to obſerve) the then dreadful Want of Ammunition, notwithſtanding the Supply of Powder they had had, a few Days before, from Belfaſt, by my Order, but was in Want of Ball, and even Time, if they had that, to make them up; from which, the Enemy, finding our Fire ſo cool, attacked the Gates Sword in Hand, which, from the battering of the Shot on both Sides, the Bolts were knocked back, and the Gates opened, and the Enemy marched in; but Lieutenant Colonel Jennings, Lord Wallingford, Captain Bland, Lieutenant Ellis, with ſome other Gentlemen, and about Fifty Men, repulſed the Enemy, and beat them back. Here it was

" he

" he ſaw great Reſolution in a few Iriſh Boys, who " defended the Gate, after it was opened, with " their Bayonets; and thoſe from the Half Moon, " after their Ammunition was gone, threw Stones " and Bricks. Had this Attack of the Enemy been " ſupported with any Degree of Courage, they muſt " certainly have ſucceeded in it, but they retired " back under Cover, leaving the Gates open with " our Men in the Front of it, which gave them a " ſhort Time to conſider what was beſt to be done; " firſt to ſee the Men's Ammunition, which, if they " had had any, would have certainly ſallied, and " even ſo without it, had not Colonel Jennings, and " all the Officers, thought the Enterprize too ha- " zardous. Then they conſidered, if the Gate could " be defended, the Breach in the Caſtle Wall " could not, it being near Fifty Feet long; and, " having but a ſhort Time to deliberate, all agreed, " a Parly ſhould be beat, and Lieutenant Hall ſent " out to know on what Terms they might ſurren- " der; which was accordingly done, and, on his " going out, found the greateſt Part of the Enemy " under Shelter of the old Walls and Houſes before " the Caſtle Gate; and after the uſual Ceremony, " demanded of the Commandant, (the General be- " ing wounded) what Terms would be given the " Troops on their Surrender, and at the ſame Time " ſent the Drum to call Colonel Jennings out of the " Caſtle, in order to treat with the French Com- " mandant on Articles of Capitulation, which, he " ſays, as well as he can remember, were as fol- " lows, viz.

" Colonel Jennings demanded, that the Troops " ſhould march out with all the Honors of War, " and the Officers to be on their Parole in " Ireland, and not to be ſent Priſoners to " France; the Soldiers alſo to ſtay in Ireland, " and that an equal Number of French Pri- " ſoners ſhould be ſent to France, within one " Month, or as ſoon after as Ships could be " got ready for that Purpoſe.

" Granted.

" That the Caſtle of Carrickfergus ſhould not be " demoliſhed, or any of the Stores deſtroyed, " or taken out of it.

" Granted.

" That the Town and County of Carrickfergus " ſhould not be plundered or burnt, on Con- " dition the Mayor and Corporation furniſhed " the French Troops with neceſſary Proviſions.

" This, as well as he can remember, was the " Verbal Articles agreed on, though, on Writing " them, the French Commandant, after conſulting " his Principal Officers, declared, He could not, by " any Means, anſwer to his Maſter, the French " King, granting to his Britannick Majeſty the " Stores in the Caſtle, which he inſiſted upon; and " Colonel Jennings, to his great Grief, had it not in " his Power to refuſe, declaring ſolemnly, at the " ſame Time, with a grave Countenance, that he " had rather have been buried in the Ruins. To " which the French Commandant replied, that he " could not inſert it in the Articles of Capitulation, " yet he would give his Word and Honour, and " did ſo, that, if there was nothing of great Value " in the Caſtle, belonging to the King, beſides " Powder, he would not touch it, (which there " really was not) but how far he will keep his Pro " miſe, is not yet known. Likewiſe the Magiſtrates " of Carrickfergus, not furniſhing the French with " neceſſary Proviſions, they plundered the Town, " declaring it was their own Fault, as they were " convinced they had it in their Power to ſupply " them, as they had found enough in the Town " afterwards.

" Mr. Hall further informs me, that he has diſ- " covered by ſome of the French, there was a Diſ- " agreement betwixt their General, and Captain " Thurot, the General being for the Attack of Car- " rick, and Thurot for landing at the Whitehouſe, " and attacking Belfaſt. He likewiſe judges the " Frigates to be, one of 40 Guns, the other two " about 20 each.

" Lieutenant Hall begs Leave to preſent his Duty " to your Grace, and hopes your Grace will excuſe " any Inaccuracy, that may be in his Deſcription, " as he was no ways provided with any Papers, but " his Memory, and often interrupted by Numbers " of Gentlemen of the Militia, who were crowding " perpetually in the Room to receive Orders.

" I beg Leave to ſubſcribe myſelf,

Belfaſt, Feb. 23, 1760, at Six in the Evening. " My Lord, &c.

Admiralty Office, March 3, 1760.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Elliott, of His Majesty's Ship Æolus, to Mr. Clevland, dated in Ramsey Bay in the Isle of Man, the 29th of February 1760.

PLEASE to acquaint the Right Honourable my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that on the 24th Instant, I received Information at Kinsale from his Grace the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, that there were three Ships of the Enemy's at Carrickfergus. The same Evening I sailed with His Majesty's Ship under my Command, together with the Pallas and Brilliant, in Quest of them. I made the Entrance of Carrickfergus, on the Evening of the 26th, but could not get in, the Wind being contrary, and very bad Weather. On the 28th at Four in the Morning we got Sight of them, and gave Chace. About Nine I got up along side their Commodore, (off the Isle of Man) and in a few Minutes after the Action became general, and lasted about an Hour and Half, when they all Three struck their Colours. They are, the Marshal Bellisle, of 44 Guns, and 545 Men including Troops, M. Thurot, Commander, who is killed. The La Blonde, of 32 Guns, and 400 Men, commanded by Captain La Kayce; and the Terpsichore of 26 Guns, and 300 Men, commanded by Captain Desrauaudais. I put into this Road to repair the Ships, who are all much disabled in their Masts and Rigging, the Marshal Bellisle in particular, who lost her Boltsprit, Mizen Mast, and Main Yard, in the Action; and it was with great Difficulty we prevented her sinking.

It is with the greatest Pleasure I acquaint their Lordships, that the Officers and Men of His Majesty's Ships behaved remarkably well on this Occasion.

I shall use the greatest Dispatch in getting the Ships refitted, and purpose returning to Plymouth, or some other Port in England, as soon as possible, if I do not receive their Lordships Directions before the Ships are got ready.

Inclosed is an Account of the Killed and Wounded on board His Majesty's Ships.

I am, &c.

JOHN ELLIOTT,

In His Majesty's Ships killed and wounded,

Æolus	4	15
Pallas	1	5
Brilliant	0	11

N. B. I find it impossible to ascertain the Number of the Enemy killed and wounded, but by the best Accounts I can get, they amount to about 300.
